

January 3, 2020

To Whom It May Concern:

I created my company, WellSpace, almost a decade ago, and I have painstakingly worked to nurture and grow it ever since. Two and a half years ago, when my company had grown large enough, I asked RG Investment Real Estate Services to step in to take over its day-to-day operations. And I have never regretted that decision. To hand over operations of one's company to others is no easy thing to do. It requires that I trust those people, that I believe they care about my business and all the people that it serves and represents. And the folks at RG have earned that trust. They have proven to me time and time again their knowledge, experience, patience, and willingness to go the extra mile. And, perhaps most of all, they have proven to me that they care. To anyone looking for a trusted partnership, I recommend RG without reservation.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Riley Cormack". The signature is fluid and cursive, with a long, sweeping tail on the final letter.

Riley Cormack, Owner
WellSpace, LLC